Temporary Password Login for Intranet

During the Google migration there will be a short time when the AFWERX user accounts are on the AFRL Google instance and our public-facing websites are still on the AFWERX Google instance.

How will I know when I need to use a password instead of logging in with Google?

When you go to the intranet (intranet.afwerx.com) you will be redirected to the login page like you are used to, but the login section will look like the screenshot below.

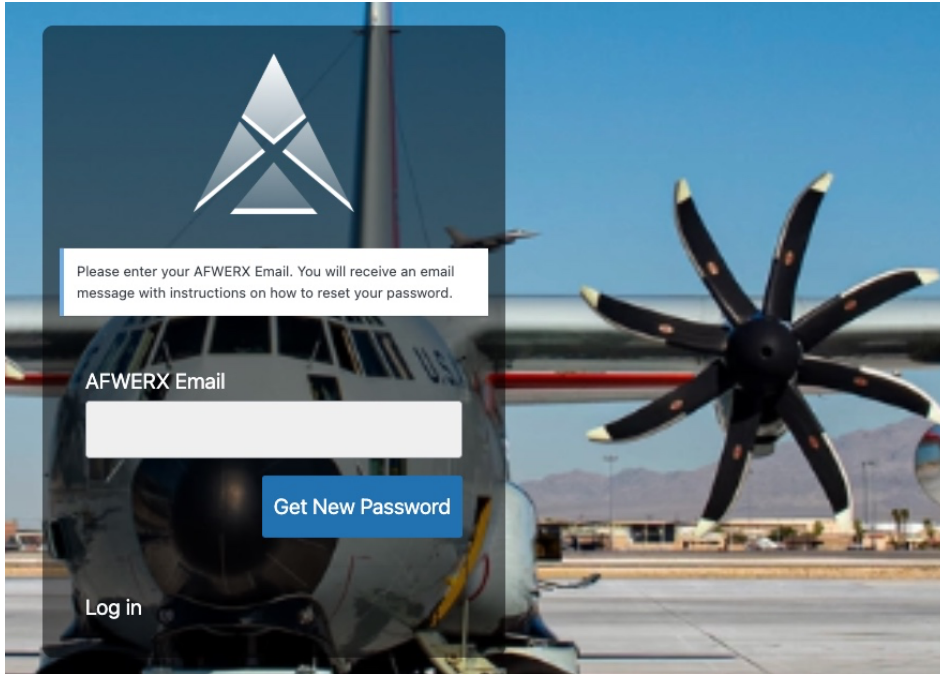

Notice there is no "Login with Google" button.

What do I do from here?

The first time you log in you will need to use the "Reset your password" link below the login form.

When you click the "Reset your password" link, you will see the following

Just follow the prompt and enter your xxxx@afwerx.af.mil email address in the field and hit the "Get New Password" button.

If you already had an account on the intranet you will receive an email within a few moments at your AFWERX email address with a link to set a new password.

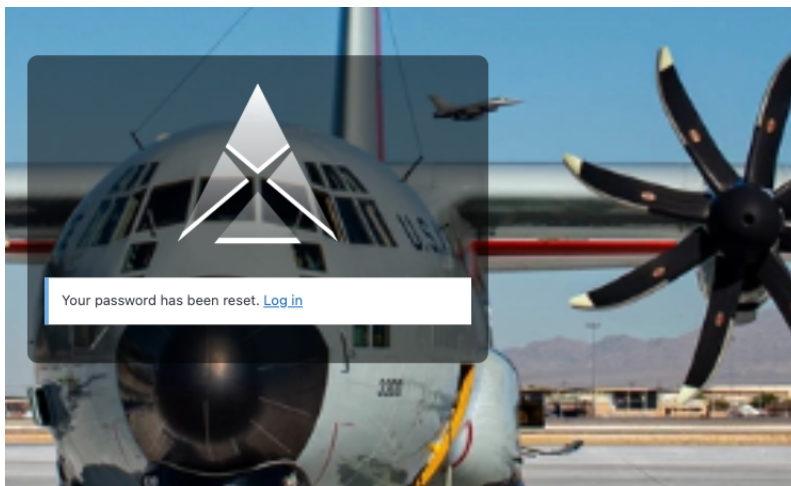

Just go to the email and click the link to be taken to the password reset screen.

The system will suggest a good, strong password. If you would like to use the one that is suggested, just copy it and paste it into your password manager of choice. If you have your browser save logins for you, copy it and paste it into the login form on the next screen.

You can also replace the suggested password with one of your choosing. The system will require a password of a minimum strength, but you can use any characters you like with no requirements to use numbers, symbols or punctuation.

Once you click on the "Save Password" button the form will disappear and will be replaced with a link to Log in.

You can click the Log in link and you will be back at the login form where you can use your AFWERX email address and the password you just set to log in.

Will I have to do this every time I want to go to the intranet?

No, this is a one-time process. However, you will need to use your AFWERX email address and the password set in the previous step to log in every time you visit the intranet until the Google migration is complete.

How long will I have to use my AFWERX email address and this password to log into the intranet?

Just until the Google migration is complete. We expect this part of the process to take no more than a couple weeks.

Once the Google migration is complete, the login form will disappear, and you will see the Login with Google button again.

What if the system doesn't recognize my email address?

If your email address isn't found by the system then that means you have never had an account on the intranet. If that's the case and you need to get in, just submit a helpdesk ticket and ask to be manually added.
